About us

Every city depends on the commitment and involvement of its citizens. Many people are willing to become involved in community issues or are already doing so in multiple ways. Supporting those who are prepared to volunteer and comprehensively demonstrating the broad range of options for volunteering are important tasks. In the City of Bonn, these tasks are fulfilled by the Office for Social Affairs and Housing.

The Volunteer Agency of the Federal City of Bonn is the city's focal point for the promotion of civic engagement.
